

□

Fibrofolliculomas and trichodiscomas

Fibrofolliculomas and trichodiscomas consist of 2- to 4-mm, yellow-white, smooth, dome-shaped lesions

In patients with the Birt-Hogg-Dube syndrome the lesions are present in considerable number mainly on

Besides occurring in association with multiple fibrofolliculomas, multiple trichodiscomas also occur with

□

Histopathology

□

Fibrofolliculomas exhibit a central distorted hair follicle that is surrounded by a mantle of basophilic

Trichodiscomas are seen in the dermis as an area of fine fibrillary connective tissue containing e

The pedunculated acrochordons seen in association with multiple fibrofolliculomas may contain only der tissue. However, in some instances, they contain thin, anastomosing strands of epithelium; they are reg

□

Additional Studies

Birt-Hogg-Dube syndrome is associated with some instances of follicular infundibular cysts crossing the dermal-epidermal junction, with some instances of the follicular infundibular cysts crossing the dermal-epidermal junction.

