

Photoallergic Dermatitis

Photoallergy is increased reactivity of skin to ultraviolet and visible light and is brought about by a chemical

Histopathology .

The features are similar to that of an acute allergic contact dermatitis, showing variable spongiosis, in so

