

Bullous Pemphigoid

First described in 1953 by Lever, bullous pemphigoid affects primarily elderly patients with large tense b

□

Histopathology .

□ In early lesions, papillary dermal edema in combination with a cell-poor or cell-rich

when blisters develop on relatively normal skin , in which there is usually a scant perivascular lymphocyt

IF Testing.

DIF testing of perilesional skin has shown linear C3 deposition at the dermal-ep

Salt-split skin IF studies are an important diagnostic tool. The technique was first developed in 1984, in v

