

Pathogenesis of Photoaged Skin: increased thickness of granular cell layer, reduced epidermal thickness, increased melanin content, increased collagen content per unit area and increased elastin content. Basal cell carcinoma and squamous cell carcinoma also occur in photoaged skin.