

Henoch-Schonlein Purpura

Henoch-Schonlein purpura (H-SP) is clinically characterized by palpable purpura of the buttocks and low

6 to 16 weeks after the onset of symptomatology. Complications generally arise from renal involvement

Histopathology .

□

Henoch-Schonlein purpura cannot be distinguished histologically from other forms

